Money Needed For Road Program

Theodore Gray, chairman of the State highway commission, this week gave out the following statement:

"In the proposed constitutional amendment no. 3 which provides for using the portion of the automobile license fees not required for the sinking fund and any interest for the $80,000,000 bond issue it is carried in the election of November 1st, careful calculations disclose that there will be available for maintenance of the state road system approximately $1,000,000 a year for the next two years from money now in bank to be collected under existing laws. It will however, be necessary for the Legislature to set aside by appropriation these funds after the amendment carries."

"If these funds are furnished, the state highway commission will immediately take over and maintain by the patrol method the entire state highway system comprising approximately 7,000 miles. This will give an average of $120.00 per mile per year to use in maintaining the state road system, including the portion that has not been constructed, as well as the 1,000 miles of the system that have been completed. It is estimated that this amount will be sufficient for the next two years without impeding the present highway system."

"There is now in the state treasury $100,000 in excess of the money derived from the present state highway bond. Besides the commission has made allotments and has awarded contracts under the provisions of the Morgan-McCullough law for over $3,200,000 of this amount. This leaves approximately $1,000,000 immediately available for maintenance of the proposed constitutional amendment no. 3. The amount of the additional amount to be used for maintenance purposes is not over $1,000,000, which is equivalent to approximately an additional $100.00 per mile, which it is estimated will be levied upon automobile license fees in excess of that required to take care of the road system."
